DECISION

Introduction

On March 1, 2024, the Department of Corrections (“Department”) received Petitioner’s Petition for Declaratory Ruling (“Petition,” attached hereto as Exhibit A.) In the Petition, the Petitioner requests that the Department issue a “declaratory order on how it interprets and applies RIGL 13-8-13(d), for a person serving two consecutive life with parole sentences, committed between June 30, 1995 and June 30, 1995.” The Petition contains no other factual allegations.

Issue

Whether the Department shall issue a declaratory order, decline to issue an order, or schedule the matter for further consideration.

Discussion

The applicable law regarding petitions for declaratory orders in the administrative law context begins with R.I. Gen. Laws § 42-35-8(a), which states: "[a] person may petition an agency for a declaratory order that interprets or applies a statute administered by the agency or states whether, or in what manner, a rule, guidance document, or order issued by the agency applies to the petitioner." Additionally, R.I. Gen. Laws § 42-35-8(c) provides: "[n]ot later than sixty (60) days after receipt of a petition under subsection (a), an agency shall issue a declaratory order in response to the petition, decline to issue the order, or schedule the matter for further consideration." If an agency declines to issue a declaratory order, the decision must be in a record and must include a brief statement of the reasons for declining. An agency decision to decline to issue a declaratory order is subject to judicial review for abuse of discretion.

The Rhode Island Supreme Court has had the opportunity to consider the initial inquiry when dealing with a request for declaratory relief. In Bowen v Mallis, 945 A.2d 314, 317 (R.I. 2008), the Court stated that "[w]hen confronted with a request for declaratory relief the first order of business for the trial justice is to determine whether a party has standing to sue. A standing inquiry focuses on the party who is advancing the claim rather than on the issue the party seeks to have adjudicated." The Rhode Island Supreme Court has also held that the test to determine whether a party has the requisite standing, he/she must allege to the court's satisfaction that the challenged action has caused him injury in fact, economic or otherwise. Rhode Island Ophthalmological Society v. Cannon, 113 R.I. 16, 22, 317 A.2d 124, 128-129 (1974). This has been characterized as a legally cognizable and protected interest that is “concrete and particularized *** and *** actual or imminent, not ‘conjectural’ or ‘hypothetical.’” Pontbriand v. Sundlun, 699 A.2d 856, 862 (R.I. 1997)(quoting Luian v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560, 112 S.Ct. 2130, 119 L.Ed.2d 351 (1992)). These principles apply to actions in law, equity or claims seeking declaratory relief. McKenna v. Williams, 874 A.2d 217, 226 (R.I. 2005).

The Petitioner has not established that the Petition requests the interpretation of a statute or rule as it applies to him consistent with the letter and spirit of R.I. Gen. Laws § 42-35-8(a). The Petitioner is not serving two consecutive life with parole sentences, committed between June 30, 1995 and June 30, 1995. Rather, the Petitioner is serving a sentence of “murder/domestic” and “habitual criminal,” to which he pled no lo contendere in September 2010. See Exhibit B. Thus, Petitioner does not request this Petition because he may or is suffering a concrete and particularized, actual or imminent, protected interest as required by our State Supreme Court to satisfy standing required by Rhode Island Ophthalmological Society and its progeny. It is beyond dispute that Petitioner lacks standing and does not satisfy the requirements of R.I. Gen. Laws 42-35-8(a). Accordingly, the Department declines to issue a declaratory order.

The Department notes that the interpretation of R.I. Gen. Laws § 13-8-13, is an issue pending before the Rhode Island Supreme Court in various procedural postures. The Rhode Island Supreme Court may provide guidance on the interpretation and various applications of R.I. Gen. Laws § 13-8-13, entitled Parole, Life prisoners and prisoners with lengthy sentences.

TO: Attorney Dilibero

I hereby petition the RIDOC for a declaratory order on how it interprets and applies RIGL 13-8-13 (d), for a person serving two consecutive life with parole sentences, committed between June 30, 1995 and June 30, 2015.

Also, please provide me with the promulgated rules ~~and~~ identified in RIGL 42-35-8 (b), and RIGL 42-35-6; for future use.

Also, please provide me with the name and contact info of the RIDOC rules coordinator; RIGL 42-35-2.1.

Thank you,

Richard Paiva
